

HITLER AGREES TO JOIN PEACE PLAN SUGGESTED BY ROOSEVELT

Roosevelt Sends Public Works Program To Congress

SHORT WEEK AND DECENT WAGE URGED

Two Fold Unemployment
Relief Plan Submitted
in Special Message

COOPERATIVE MOVE

Plan to Operate Through Three Billion Dollar
Public Works Project

WASHINGTON, May 17.—(UP)—President Roosevelt sent to congress today a two-fold unemployment relief program operating through a $3,300,000,000 public works plan and a "great co-operative movement throughout all industry in order to obtain wide re-employment."

The president urged that congress adopt this program before adjournment of the special session. For this cooperative program of industrial planning Mr. Roosevelt proposed:

1. A shorter work week.
2. A "decent" wage for the shortened week.
3. Prevention of unfair competition and "disastrous" over-production.
4. Limitation of the operation of anti-trust laws.

New Revenues
New revenues must be provided to finance the public works program, Mr. Roosevelt said. In this connection he said repeal of the 18th amendment, now pending before the states, would restore former revenue laws which would "yield enough wholly to eliminate these temporary re-employment taxes."

Mr. Roosevelt estimated $230,000,000 in additional revenue would be needed to service the contemplated borrowing for the public works program. He did not make a specific recommendation for the form it should take.

"A number of suggestions have been made as to the nature of these taxes," he said. "I do not make a specific recommendation at this time, but I hope that the committee on representatives will make a careful study of the revenue plans and be prepared at the beginning of the coming week to propose the taxes which they judge to be the best adapted to meet the present need and which will, at the same time, be least burdensome to our people."

May Take Action
"At the end of that time, if no decision has been reached, or if the means proposed do not seem to be sufficiently adequate or certain, it is my intention to transmit to the congress my own recommendations in the matter."

Mr. Roosevelt said that since the taxes would be of an emergency nature provisions should be made for their reduction or elimination as soon as increased revenues from improved business, or revenue from pre-prohibition laws which would go into effect automatically upon repeal of the 18th amendment, become available.

AKRON REPORT PLACES BLAME FOR ACCIDENT

Finds Commander's Error
of Judgment is Contributing Cause

WASHINGTON, May 17.—(UP)—A naval court of inquiry reported today to Secretary of Navy Swanson that an "error in judgment" on the part of her commander was a "contributory cause" of the disaster to the ship Akron last April 4.

The court submitted a lengthy report, containing eleven separate points of opinion, declaring that final destruction of the huge ship was caused by "a down current of wind of such magnitude that the lower fin struck the water before the descent could be checked."

Of the 75 men on board the Akron at the time it plunged into the Atlantic ocean off the New Jersey coast during a severe thunderstorm, 73, including Rear Admiral William A. Moffett, lost their lives.

The "error in judgment" on the part of Commander Frank C. McVord, who died in the crash, was attributed by the court to his failure to set a course that would have kept him in "the safe semi-circle, thereby probably avoiding the severe conditions finally encountered."

Lack of Evidence
The court reported that lack of evidence prevented it from expressing an opinion as to whether or not the Akron would have been in a safer position had it flown.

MOBILIZE CITIZENS IN MILK WARFARE

SHAWANO, Wis., May 17.—(UP)—An army of 1200 state troopers and hastily deputized civilians was mobilized today to meet the crisis in Wisconsin's milk strike.

Although pickets have been victorious in sporadic skirmishes with authorities during the first four days of the strike, the number of counties in which the embargo is effective has dwindled from 18 to 11. Officials interpreted movements of strikers last night as indicating a desperate attempt today to make the strike effective.

State troopers who donned overalls and mingled with picket forces reported to Assistant State Adjutant Nicholas Shantz that a formidable company of strikers planned to move into Shawano county at dawn. Threats were made to burn the Badger Co-operative dairy plant here.

Order Vets Leave Camp Next Monday

Bonus Marchers Face Joining
Reforestation Army or Going Back Home

WASHINGTON, May 17.—(UP)—Bonus marchers today faced the alternative of joining the reforestation corps or going home. The White House extended until Monday the period for the veterans to remain at Fort Hunt, Va., on condition that they agree to disperse then. Thursday previously had been the deadline.

After Monday, it was made clear, Fort Hunt would be converted into a conditioning camp for those who desired to join the reforestation corps and the others would be expected to be on their way. The administration's edict seemed certain to lead to sharp debate in today's sessions of the bonus army convention. Many of the men have jeered at the tender of jobs in the woods at $1 a day.

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt drove her own roadster through a down-pour to visit the 1500 veterans last evening after they had returned to camp from their meeting in the city. Accompanied only by Louis M. Howe, the president's secretary, Mrs. Roosevelt was received with as much enthusiasm as any guest arriving at the dinner hour is entitled to expect.

The camp grounds were muddy and sticky, but Mrs. Roosevelt jumped from her car to greet the perspiring, littered men who surrounded her.

One fellow in the rear ranks had the temerity to call, "we want our bonus!" A strategist broke in with the demand, "three cheers for the first lady of the land."

Three lusty cheers were given and Mrs. Roosevelt passed through the pots and kettles filled with steaming bean soup, sauerkraut and kidney beans.

Through the puddles of water she strode, smiling above her gardenias and silver fox scarf. The trip inspired her hosts. "Look at her take that mud," one remarked. Another spoke of her determination in that for the men in her cultured accoutrements those who value their appreciation.

"I am afraid I am unable to talk to you about the thing you want most to know about," she told the men in her cultured accoutrements, "because I am forbidden to talk politics."

She described her service in the canteens in Washington during the war and later in the hospitals. "So, you see, I saw both sides of the war," she said. "I felt I knew a great deal about it and how the men felt about it. I never want to see another."

Hiram Johnson, below, has been offered a place on the American delegation to the world economic conference by President Roosevelt.

HOUSE PASSES MUSCLE SHOALS PROJECT BILL

Measure Now Goes to President; Will Place Many Men in Employment

WASHINGTON, May 17.—(UP)—President Roosevelt's program for development of the Tennessee valley, centering around the great government owned power plants at Muscle Shoals, was given final congressional approval today by the house.

The chamber, without substantial opposition, adopted a conference report compromising house and senate difficulties.

Its action, following close on senate approval, sends the measure to the White House for President Roosevelt's signature, now all that is needed to launch the first American experiment in large scale economic planning.

Under the terms of the revised bill, a government commission is created, known as the "Tennessee Valley Authority," which will have complete charge of a tremendous development program for the entire region.

The authority will have power to operate the shoals; sell the electric energy to states, municipalities and individuals; construct and own transmission lines which eventually will carry the cheap government power into many states; foster the economic development of the valley; build dams, flood control and navigation works; conduct afforestation operations.

This program would be financed by an initial $50,000,000 bond issue. Eventually it is contemplated that possibly hundreds of millions more may be expended as the far reaching plan gets fully under way.

The Shoals, with its nitrogen plants built for war-time use, will also be turned to the production of cheap fertilizer, under lease to some private firm. Immediate improvement plans are provided in the bill. In addition, two more dams are expected to be built within a short time to add to the already huge power resources at the site.

GEORGIA SOLON IS CALLED BY DEATH

ATLANTA, Ga., May 17.—(UP)—Rep. Charles Hillyer Brand, 72, veteran Georgia Democratic congressman, died at his home here today after an illness of several months.

Supervisors To Consider Act Tuesday

Orders Resolution Drawn Up Providing for Ballot
on June 27

POSSIBILITY of a county-wide election on June 27 on the question of the sale in Orange county of alcoholic liquor or more than one-half of one per cent alcoholic content, looms today following action of the board of supervisors yesterday in ordering preparation of a resolution calling for such an election for consideration and action by the board next Tuesday.

Plans for the county-wide vote were discussed informally yesterday afternoon by members of the board after it was brought up by Supervisors George Jeffrey and W. C. Jerome.

As a result Deputy District Attorney W. F. Menton, legal adviser for the board, was instructed to prepare a resolution calling for such an election, and present it for action next week.

While members of the board declined to indicate their probable vote on the resolution when it is presented next Tuesday it is believed in some quarters that a majority of the members are in favor of such election.

The proposition to go on the ballot for the special June 27 election probably will be: "Shall the board of supervisors license the sale of beer outside of cities?"

Favors Election
Supervisor Jeffrey of the fifth district said that he favors the election because he believes that the people in the unincorporated areas have the right to express their opinion as to whether beer shall be sold or not in their districts.

Jerome, supervisor for the first district, said that by including the county vote on the ballot for the special election June 27 the board will save the cost of another special county election. He said that he has been informed of plans being made by certain groups in various unincorporated areas, for circulation of petitions for a special election on the proposition.

Should such petitions be presented and necessitate the calling of a special election on the one proposition the cost to the county would be approximately $10,000, he said.

Petitions Out
Petitions asking the supervisors to call a county-wide election on the alcoholic beverage question have been prepared under direction of the Orange county division of the Southern California Business Men's association, an organization which has been active in pushing repeal of laws prohibiting sale of beverages of more than one-half of one per cent alcoholic content.

The navy's patrol wing, comprising more than 100 flying boats, will be grouped hereafter as "aircraft, base force," and stationed at San Diego, Honolulu and the Canal Zone.

TURN WAR TALK TO ONE OF PEACE; DEMANDS PACT OF VERSAILLES REVISED

Equality of Arms for Germany Also Demanded With Threat of League
Resignation - As Alternative

REICH UNANIMOUSLY OKAYS

BERLIN, May 17.—(UP)—Chancellor Adolf Hitler faced the Reichstag and the civilized world today with a demand for equality of arms for Germany.

Hailing the Roosevelt peace plan as a constructive step, he agreed to join any non-aggression pact, as proposed by President Roosevelt, but refused to adhere to a disarmament agreement, even if reached by a majority of nations, unless Germany's demand for equality is fully recognized.

Otherwise, he declared, Germany will resign from the League of Nations.

The reichstag unanimously approved the speech.

Hitler, the fiery crusader who led Germany from embittered acceptance of the restrictions of the Versailles treaty to a new, aggressive national consciousness, unbent but little in his presentation of Germany's stand on arms, awaited eagerly by all nations.

Denouncing the Versailles treaty as the cause of untold misery and 224,000 suicides, he again uncompromisingly demanded its revision.

Hitler, in a word, accepted the Roosevelt proposal and the MacDonald arms plan if Germany's equality demands are met, but threatened to wreck the world arms conference by withdrawing from the League of Nations unless Germany is given her full place in the sun, toe to toe with France and all other nations.

After accepting Hitler's declaration, the reichstag, which had been shorn of its powers and abruptly dismissed when Hitler took over the reins, adjourned indefinitely, having been summoned for this special occasion merely to endorse the chancellor's speech in behalf of all Germany.

The tone of Hitler's speech throughout was one of being willing to cooperate with other nations towards peace, but only on conditions.

He promised to disband the German auxiliary police and also to subject semi-military organizations to international control, provided other nations accept the same control.

He accepted the MacDonald plan, endorsed by President Roosevelt, as a basis for a disarmament agreement, but declined to forego Germany's present defense system for any new settlement not identical with that given other nations.

Warmly welcoming President Roosevelt's message to the world, Hitler agreed that disarmament is indispensable to a solution of the world's economic problems. He praised the president's "high-minded" offer to participate in guaranteeing European peace.

He emphasized that Germany had fulfilled the "unreasonable demands" of the Versailles treaty.

L. A. POLICE CAPTAIN CLEARED ON COUNTS

LOS ANGELES, May 17.—(UP)—Capt. J. A. McCaleb, ousted as night chief of Police by Police Chief Roy A. Steckel, today stood cleared of two counts but guilty on one count in a general charge of "conduct unbecoming an officer."

Three lieutenants, constituting a police board of inquiry, last night decided McCaleb erred when he released a prisoner wanted in Fresno without taking the matter up with the fugitive detail, despite McCaleb's plea that the Fresno police chief concurred in his action.

The trial judges recommended that McCaleb should be reprimanded for his conduct rather than discharged.

Charges involving the killing of a doe deer in Calaveras county, and of not reporting promptly the alleged improper conduct of a subordinate officer, were dropped by the board.

NEW HOPE FOR ARMS MEETING NOW HELD OUT

Success at Geneva Held to Be Possible Following
Hitler's Speech

WASHINGTON, May 17.—(UP)—New hope for the success of the Geneva disarmament conference was expressed by American officials today after they read Chancellor Adolf Hitler's speech to the reichstag.

Officials felt that a Franco-German crisis probably had been averted.

The state department read with keen satisfaction Hitler's acceptance of the non-aggression pact proposed by President Roosevelt. The chancellor's declaration that a European war should be avoided also was favorably received.

It was believed the German attitude, more moderate than had been expected, might make possible a solution of the German arms equality problem on the basis of the resolution of last December 12, which was agreed to by Great Britain, France and Italy. This resolution admitted Germany's theoretical right to arms equality and also provided for a system of European security.

The important point about Hitler's speech, in the view of officials here, was that he did not close the door to future negotiations in Geneva. Officials believed that there is now a possibility of a European agreement on the basis of the MacDonald disarmament plan.

WILL ROGERS SAYS:

BEVERLY HILLS, May 17. (To the Editor of The Register:) Well, lots of war news in the papers today. I knew it was coming when I saw that we had cut down on our army and navy. If you want to know when a war is coming just watch the U. S. and see when they start cutting down on their defense. It's the surest barometer in the world.

The Democrats have one great failing (that I was in hopes they had lived down) and that is they just want to fix the affairs of the world. Now it's big hearted and it's mighty generous, but it's just not possible for me (three thousand miles away) to tell you what caliber gun to have in your house. You know your neighbors better than I do.

armament plan under which Germany will be permitted some slight increase in its military forces.

Japan's Angle

Only slightly less interest was given to Japan. Ambassador Kai-sun Dehuchi conferred last night with Undersecretary of State Phillips, but said he had not been advised whether his government would accept the Roosevelt proposals.

In informed quarters it was said Japan might find it difficult to accept without a reservation legalizing the status of its troops in Manchuria and China. There is serious doubt that such a reservation would be accepted by the United States.

Such reactions from abroad to the Roosevelt plan as had reached the state department today were favorable. Secretary of State Hull said further word from the world's capitals was awaited, but it was considered doubtful that many official replies would be received until the various foreign offices had time to digest Mr. Roosevelt's speech.

Mr. Roosevelt yesterday cabled direct appeals to the heads of 64 nations, including Soviet Russia. He asked them to discard their weapons of attack, and to unite in a universal promise not to send troops beyond their own frontiers. The president's plan, involving acceptance of the disarmament project of Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald of Great Britain, would increase German armaments slightly, adding the security of both France and Germany through a non-aggression pact. By it, Mr. Roosevelt hoped to send the German revolt against the Versailles treaty.

Sir Ronald Lindsay, British ambassador, called at the White House last night. The ambassador said his discussion with the president "ranged over a wide field." Personally, he applauded Mr. Roosevelt's appeal for disarmament and peace. He said he had not been advised how his government viewed it.

Hull and Assistant Secretary of State Mokey were called to the White House, presumably to survey world reaction to the president's proposal.

Congressional reaction was favorable, even among Republicans. The Roosevelt plan was divided into four main parts:

1—The elimination of offensive weapons through a series of disarmament agreements.

2—A first definite step to be taken at once.

3—Meanwhile, no nation shall increase existing armaments over and above the limitation of treaty obligations.

4—Subject to existing treaty rights, no nation during the disarmament period shall send any armed force of whatsoever nature across its own borders.

The "first step" mentioned by Mr. Roosevelt was acceptance of the MacDonald disarmament plan. It would limit heavy guns, used in attack, to four inches, prohibit tanks above 15 tons, and abolish bombing planes and poison gas. Without these weapons, the president reasoned, nations cannot effectively attack one another.

Under the MacDonald plan the Germans might substitute a "militia" of 200,000 men serving not more than eight months for their present professional army of 100,000 men, serving 12 years. But pending an agreement on the MacDonald plan, no nation would renounce treaties. By implication Mr. Roosevelt meant that Germany must not renounce the Versailles treaty, limiting its arms.

Aside from the Franco-German angle, other important by-products result from Mr. Roosevelt's proposal.

The United States would be prevented from sending marines to Latin-American countries to protect U. S. lives and property, as it has done in Nicaragua and Haiti.

By intervening in the midst of a European crisis, Mr. Roosevelt demonstrated to the world that the United States no longer aspires to "splendid isolation."

TEXT OF PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE TO CONGRESS

WASHINGTON, May 17.—(UP)—The complete text of President Roosevelt's message to congress on public works and industrial planning, follows:

To the Congress:

Before the special session of the congress adjourns, I recommend two further steps in our national campaign to put people to work.

My first request is that (1) The congress provide for the machinery necessary for a great cooperative movement throughout all industry in order to obtain wide re-employment, to shorten the working week, to pay a decent wage for the shorter week and to prevent unfair competition and disastrous overproduction.

Employers cannot do this singly or even in organized groups because such action increases cost and thus permits cutthroat underbidding by selfish competitors unwilling to join in such a public spirited endeavor.

One of the great restrictions on such cooperative efforts up to this time has been our anti-trust laws. They were properly designed as a means to cure the great evil of monopolistic price fixing. They should certainly be retained as a permanent assurance that the old evils of unfair competition shall never return.

But the public interest will be served if, with the authority and under the guidance of government, private industries are permitted to make agreements and codes insuring fair competition. However, if necessary, if we thus limit the operation and anti-trust laws to their original purpose in order to meet rare cases of non-cooperation and abuse, such a safeguard is indispensable.

The other proposal (2) gives the executive full power to start a large program of direct employment. A careful survey convinces me that approximately $3,500,000,000 can be invested in useful and necessary public construction, and necessary public construction, and at the same time put the largest possible number of people to work.

Provision should be made to permit states, counties and municipalities to undertake useful public works, subject, however, to the most effective possible means of eliminating favoritism and wasteful expenditures on unwarranted and uneconomic projects.

We must, by prompt and vigorous action, override unnecessary obstructions which in the past have delayed the starting of public works programs. This can be accomplished by simple and direct procedure.

In carrying out this program it is imperative that the credit of the United States government be protected and preserved. This means that at the same time we are making these vast emergency expenditures there must be provided sufficient revenue to pay interest and amortization on the cost and that the revenues so provided must be adequate and certain rather than inadequate and speculative.

Careful estimates indicate that at least $220,000,000 of additional revenue will be required to service the contemplated borrowings of the government. This will of necessity involve some form or forms of taxation. A number of suggestions have been made as to the nature of these taxes. I do not make a specific recommendation at this time, but I hope that the committee on ways and means, of the house of representatives, will make a careful study of the revenue plans and be prepared by the beginning of the coming week to propose the taxes which will judge to be the best adapted to meet the present need, and which will, at the same time, be least burdensome to our people. At the end of that time, if no decision has been reached, or if the means proposed do not seem to be sufficiently adequate or certain, it is my intention to transmit to the congress my own recommendations.

The taxes to be imposed are for the purpose of providing re-employment for our citizens. Provisions should be made for their reduction or elimination—

First—As fast as increasing revenues from improving business become available to replace them.

Second—Whenever the repeal of the 13th amendment shall have been ratified and the repeal of the Volstead act effected. The pre-prohibition revenues laws would be automatically gone into effect and yield enough wholly to eliminate these temporary re-employment taxes.

Finally, I stress the fact that all of these proposals are based on the gravity of the emergency and that therefore it is urgently necessary immediately to initiate a re-employment campaign if we are to avoid further hardships to sustain business employment and to pass on to better things.

For this reason I urge prompt action on this legislation.

mand" of the Versailles treaty with "suicidal loyalty."

Germany, he insisted, has disarmed in accordance with the treaty, and now if other nations refuse to carry out their part of the treaty and disarm too, then Germany is entitled to demand rearmament.

Hitler spoke with the persuasive oratory for which he is famous, and carried his audience with him. He read from manuscript. His tone and gestures were mild compared to previous speeches, when his voice was aggressive and his gestures sweeping and vigorous. Today he moved his arms only slightly and occasionally opened his hand to punctuate his cadences.

The whole atmosphere of the Kroll opera house, where the session was held, was hushed and tense. The former Crown Prince, in field gray uniform, sat in the diplomatic section, where the French and British ambassadors also sat.

Hermann Wilhelm Goering, president of the Reichstag, frequently nodded approval. "Of the deputies, the Socialists and most of the middle parties sat immobile in stolid silence, only the Centrists occasionally indulged in desultory handclapping."

Hitler was unusually pale. He wore a brown tunic, white shirt, black tie and the usual red armband bearing a white swastika. He sat down in the chancellor's place on the government benches, amid unobtrusive applause.

Hitler took two steps to the rostrum and began speaking. When he had finished, a joint motion of approval presented by the Nazis, Catholics, Nationalists and Bavarians was adopted unanimously. It said:

"The reichstag approves the declaration of the government and wholeheartedly supports the government on the question of equality of rights which is decisive of the nation's destiny."

Before adjournment the reichstag stood and sang "Deutschland über Alles" and the Nazi anthem, "Horst Wessel Lied."

Plan Accepted

Germany will accept the basis, as far as equality of arms is concerned, of the MacDonald plan, which President Roosevelt recommended, he added, and Germany is ready to join any non-aggression pact.

"Germany is ready to assume further guarantees if others do the same," he said. "She is even ready to forego arming completely if others do the same. . . . Germany accepts the five-year terms proposed in the British plan for restoring equality of armaments, and will accept the moratorium."

Germany, he declared, is sincerely desirous of promoting peace with all nations. He could see no good, but nothing except misery and bolshevism, from a new war in Europe.

Hitler threatened that Germany would resign from the league of nations unless she is granted arms equality.

In demand revision of the Versailles treaty, the chancellor indicated the treaty as the cause of

It said it was unable "to place the responsibility for failure to check the descent which resulted in the crash."

Swanson was told that McCord's "error in judgment" was made evident to the court by its study of the testimony, but the report said the court had "but little direct knowledge of the considerations upon which this judgment was based."

"Everything within the knowledge of Commander McCord at the time his decision was made might have pointed to his plan of action being justifiable," the report said.

No Condemnation

"Certainly we know that many conflicting considerations had to be set one against the other, and what subsequent events show to have been an erroneous decision does not, in the opinion of the court, justify a condemnation without more information of the consideration upon which the plan of action was based. This information was lost with the ship."

The report praised the structural condition of the Akron and the skill of her officers and men, and said McCord was justified in starting the flight "at the time chosen."

Weather forecasts furnished the commanding officer of the Akron prior to the commencement of the last flight did not indicate dangerous weather conditions nor predict "hunderstorms," it said.

The report concluded with a recommendation that "no further proceedings be had in the matter," and was signed by Rear Admiral Henry V. Butler, president; Captain Harry E. Shoemaker and Commander Sydney M. Kraus.

Speakers before sectional groups yesterday included Samuel J. Hume, executive secretary of the California council on oriental relations, Berkeley; V. S. McClatchy, San Francisco, executive secretary of the California joint immigration committee, and Dr. Lee A. Stone, Madera county health officer.

Members of the Engineering division of Santa Ana junior college were conducted through the Standard Oil company's refinery at El Segundo yesterday. They were given a general lecture on the various processes before being shown through the refinery. Five stages of the distillation of gas and four different processes of the condensation of oil were a few of the things viewed.

Santa Ana police today were attempting to establish the identity of a young man who rented a house at 405 Hobart street recently and which was found to contain a large quantity of liquor when police raided the house.

Captain Jess Buckles and two officers raided the house after obtaining a search warrant and found 22 pints of liquor, two half-gallons of liquor and several empty bottles and cans.

There was no one in the house when it was raided. According to police reports, it is believed that the man who rented the place used it only as a liquor cutting plant and headquarters and did not live there.

The owner of the house told police he had obtained a $5 deposit on the place from a man whose name he did not know.

The police department was informed by the sheriff's office that there was liquor in the house.

Trio Accused Of Conspiracy On Trial Here Today

Trial of Tony Perry, Harry Miller, and James B. Miller, accused of conspiracy to commit grand theft started this morning before Superior Judge James L. Allen in department two, superior court. The morning session was devoted to selection of a jury. Indications were that practically the entire day would be devoted to selection of a jury.

The three men are accused of having conspired to steal 20 tons of 4-inch pipe belonging to S. R. Bowen company of Huntington Beach. The pipe was valued at approximately $400. According to the complaint the men had engaged a truck to haul the pipe away from the yard and were surprised in the act of loading a quantity of the pipe on the truck.

Attorneys J. W. Kearby and Hugh L. Dickson are representing the defendants and Deputy District Attorney James Davis is appearing for the prosecution.

All tire dealers in the county were asked to submit bids for year's contract. Specifications for every size and type used on county passenger cars were submitted and the dealers asked to submit their bids on the basis on one tire of each type.

The successful bidder turned in the low bid of $67.54. C. J. Skirvin of Santa Ana was next lowest bidder with an offer of $83.43. Six bidders submitted offers of $86.02. REPORTS SHOW SCHOOL FUNDS IN GOOD SHAPE

School finances are in better condition at this time than had been anticipated several months ago, according to a report by County Tax Collector John Lamb and Auditor W. T. Lambert. With $2,402,875.51 the total amount possible to raise for school districts this year, there was only $553,761.22 outstanding on April 20 when the tax moratorium became effective.

Lambert said that it is probable that considerable of this amount has been paid since April 20 and tax payments are continuing. The last balance was taken from the books, however, on the day the moratorium became effective.

In the city of Santa Ana school district funds for the year are approximately two-thirds paid. The amount possible to raise, according to the auditor's report, was $264,691.43. Of this amount there remains to be collected $101,946.60, showing collections to date amounting to $262,745.34.

SWIM PERIODS FOR BOYS AT Y ARE ANNOUNCED

Boys of the community will be interested in the announcement of the spring schedule of swimming periods issued today from the Y.M.C.A. office.

Beginning with this week, the boys' swimming periods have been planned for each afternoon except Friday and Saturday. Immediately after school, all boys members of the Y will be welcome to swimming at this time. Friday afternoon, the swimming pool is used by girls of the Y.W.C.A. morning instead of in the afternoon.

The employed boys' class continues on Monday and Thursday evenings at 7 o'clock, as usual. Any boys who are members of this class and who desire to swim in the afternoons are at liberty to do so.

The policy of granting free membership to all boys of Santa Ana from nine to 18 years of age is to be continued for the present, according to General Secretary R. C. Smedley, but it is very probable that some form of charge will have to be put on this service in the near future, in order to help meet the expense, and Smedley issues a friendly warning to the boys to get their swims now, while the service is free. Boys who are not at present members of the Y.M.C.A. boys' department may secure application blanks for parental approval by calling at the Y office at any time.

Baptists To Plan Summer Activities

Plans for summer activities and the annual picnic will be taken up at the monthly meeting of the Sunday School Cabinet of the First Baptist church to be held Thursday at 7:15 p. m. at the church assembly room, it was announced today by Frederic Sanford, Sunday school superintendent. Coupled with this announcement, it was added that it had been planned to hold the meeting on Friday evening but that certain changes in arrangements made it advisable to change it to Thursday night.

STUDENTS PICK GANDHI AS OUTSTANDING WORLD FIGURE

Who in your opinion is (1) the greatest historical figure of the world and (2) the most outstanding world character of today?

This question, answered by 40 members of an American history class at Santa Ana Junior college yesterday, received numerous answers, with Abraham Lincoln and Napoleon being selected as the outstanding historical characters and Mahatma Gandhi of India as the greatest world character of today. Lincoln and Napoleon each received five votes on the first section of the ballot, Gandhi securing 15 in the second division ahead of President Franklin D. Roosevelt, with 9.

Columbus, Cortez, Commander Byrd, DeAnza and several other famous historical characters were named in the balloting conducted by Mrs. Jennie Lasby, Tessemann, class instructor. Queen Elizabeth of England received honorable mention in the voting for the historical character; Ramsey McDonald, Charles Lindbergh and Adolph Hitler, for today's world character.

UNIQUE MACHINE TESTS TIRE WEAR

A unique machine which is said to be able to actually prove the outstanding superiority of Goodyear tires has been set up in the Goodyear service station here, it was announced today by Hubert Bown, manager. "We call it the Super Twist machine," Bown said, "and by means of it we are able to convince any customer within the space of three minutes why the cord fabric used in Goodyear tires is so superior in Goodyear tires to ordinary tires, resulting in longer mileage and trouble-free service."

JUDGE DISMISSES BURGLARY CHARGE

Burglary charges against Mauro Hernandez, who has been held in the county jail in connection with the robbery of the George Joseph store in Atwood some time ago, were dismissed by Judge Kenneth E. Morrison in the Santa Ana justice court for lack of evidence. Antonio Perez was held to answer to the superior court on the same charge some time ago.

Judge Morrison set May 23 at 9 a. m. as the time for a hearing in the case of Francis McFarland, charged with operating an automobile while under the influence of intoxicating liquor.

The charge was placed against McFarland two months ago, but because he suffered a broken leg and other injuries in an accident in Santa Ana canyon which led to his arrest, he had been unable to appear in court before. Bail of $1500 demanded was not made and he was sent back to the county hospital.

Poultry Men To Convene Friday

Dr. R. H. Scofield of the Los Angeles County livestock department will outline the progress of the experimental work conducted at Pomona. L. D. Sanborn, assistant farm advisor, Los Angeles county, will report on the results of the pullet mortality survey in Los Angeles county.

Delegates from Orange county expecting to attend are I. E. Heying, Westminster; S. J. Scally, Cypress; Frank Jones, Santa Ana; E. F. Zimmer, Anaheim, and W. C. Childers, Santa Ana.

MANAGEMENT CHANGES MADE BY AUTO CLUB

Changes in the active management of the Auto Club of Orange county were announced today by Clyde Walker, president. These changes were necessitated by the withdrawal of A. S. Ralph as secretary-manager due to the purchase of his agencies by the board of directors and employees of the club.

C. H. Jeffrey who has been office manager and secretary for the Ralph corporation for the past nine years, has all details of the present business in his hands, and is qualified to assume the same duties with the new organization. D. B. Carmichael, who becomes secretary, was first connected with the Auto Club of Orange county in 1916-17 and has been continuously associated with its growth since 1921, the year of his graduation from Stanford university. Under his direction as secretary the management anticipates a growth in membership and the extension of the service of the club, Walker said.

George S. Briggs was appointed as a director for both the club and the Indemnity exchange, which is the insurance department of the club. Briggs is a capable financier and business man and his service will be a valuable asset to the club, Walker said. John W. Tubbs was appointed vice president of the Auto club and the Indemnity exchange of Orange county to succeed the late A. S. Bradford. Tubbs has been connected with the business world of Orange county for the past 32 years and for the past 9 years has been actively engaged in the automobile business.

"The Auto club is proud of the fact that it is the only county organization of its kind in California and is one of the six bonded clubs empowered to transact business by the state of California," Walker said.

"The insurance department of the club has built up a surplus which places it in the enviable position of having a higher ratio of capital per car than any insurance company in the United States. The cooperation of local automobile owners has resulted in a savings of a large sum of money and without doubt we will be able to continue to save for the members in the future."

ROOFING that stays "alive"! How important to Southern Californians. With countless roofs that need to be patched or completely re-roofed.

Not so with Pabco Vitalized Roofing! An exclusive vitalizing saturant—perfected by Pabco scientists—is introduced... and sealed in by a double coating on the weather surface. Results: "drying out" is definitely retarded; years of life are added.

JURY INSPECTS STREET DIP IN DAMAGE CASE

Whether Mrs. Emma Brown collects $20,000 demanded from the city of Orange for a broken back when the automobile in which she was riding struck a dip in the street in that city is in the hands of a jury today. The case went to the jury this morning following two days spent in presenting evidence.

Mrs. Brown is suing the city alleging that through negligence on the part of the city a sharp dip was allowed to remain across Cypress street and that the car in which she was a passenger several months ago struck it, inflicting the back injury. She alleged that when the automobile struck the dip she was thrown about in the back seat sustaining the injuries for which she is seeking damages.

Yesterday Dr. J. D. Price of the Orange County hospital was called as a defense witness and testified that while she was a patient at the hospital Mrs. Brown failed to cooperate with physicians and hospital attendants in that she refused to remain quiet in bed and insisted on walking about the hospital and sitting on the edge of her bed. Miss Gertrude Schroeder, nurse at the hospital, corroborated the testimony of Dr. Price.

At 4:30 yesterday afternoon Superior Judge Ames sent the jury to Orange in company with City Street Superintendent C. C. Bonebrake with instructions to view and identify the dip which is said to have caused the accident. Arguments in the case were started immediately after the jury's return. Fred Forgy is appearing as attorney for Mrs. Brown and the City of Orange is represented by City Attorney H. L. Deering.

OUTSTANDING HIT SCORED BY CANTANDO CLUB

By E. V. E.

That wish which music lovers cherish in secret, to listen to a concert made up of their favorite compositions, came near its fulfillment last night, when the Cantando club completed its seventh successive season with an all request program presented in Santa Ana high school auditorium, under the baton of Leon Eckles, founder and director.

The evening was one of unadulterated enjoyment, according to those present, its tempo set by the introductory selection, "Soldiers' Chorus" from Gounod's Faust.

The concert program had something of interest to every musical taste. The rousing measures of the Faust selection; the reverent beauty of "Now Let Every Tongue Adore Thee" from the Bach cantata, "Sleepers, Awake!" and "O Bone Jesu" that truly exquisite Palestrina number sung as capella; the humor of "A Tragic Tale" (Fox) and the traditional sea chanty, "What Shall We Do With a Drunken Sailor?" the drama and touch of pathos of "Tally-Ho" (Leon); the serenity of "Thou Art Repose" (Schubert); the romance of "Who is Sylvia" (Schubert); the lilt of the "Tudor Round" (German) with their Morris, Shepherds' and Torch Dance motifs, and finally the culmination of the program with "By the Beautiful Blue Danube" (Strauss), gave an unforgettable evening outstanding as one of the most interesting accomplishments of this unique organization.

"Tally-Ho" and "Who is Sylvia" were the two songs repeated by the club, and the enthusiastic audience long applauded the final number, "The Blue Danube," which many felt was one of the loveliest things ever sung by the Cantando club.

"Youth" by Ganes, was a joyously dramatic selection, its interest heightened by the soprano solo beautifully sung by Sallie Lee Scates. "The Blue Danube" had a beautiful duet strain by Mark Hare and H. P. Tompkins, and "A Plaisanterie" by Bliss, was outstanding by reason of its octet melody with Messrs. R. S. Briggs,

T. P. Douglas; William Fox, Fitz, Hugh Gibbs, P. S. Pierce, P. H. Prior, H. P. Tompkins and Charles Wollaston as the artists.

Interest was increased by the fact that guest artists, usually chosen from other cities, this time represented this community. And no finer artists have ever appeared on a similar program. Tremendous applause was the word to describe the Tschakowsky Concerto in B flat minor, played by Earl Fraser and Dudley Page Harper in a two piano arrangement.

Theirs was truly a magnificent achievement, to which the audience gave the closest possible attention and applause that they brought back for a succession of bows. It might be mentioned that Fraser played the movement entirely from memory, a remarkable achievement.

Mrs. Scates met with the same delighted appreciation in her solo appearance with the club, and then when the Musical Arts octette appeared in a song group, it made an evening of very real musical history.

Mrs. Ruth Armstrong, accompanist for the Cantando club, whose talents long ago earned her a firm place in the Southland's musical life, directs the octette of women's voices, so the evening was a rather special triumph for her. The singers, Sallie Lee Scates, Irma Huffman May, Holly Lash Visel, Marie Bishop, Edith Cornell, Leonora Tompkins, Cecilia Fross, and Essie Nallo, opened with "Invocation to Life" (Spross) followed by Curran's "Nursery Rhymes" in lighter vein with a short solo part by Mrs. Willets, and ended with "The Star" by Rogers. But the audience demanded an encore so they returned to sing "Take Joy Home" by Bassett.

The only deviation from a strictly musical program was the brief talk in which Harry Warner called attention to associate membership cards accompanying the programs, and asked for continued support from the community for the 1933-34 season. For Cantando club will continue its activities, aspiring to new heights of beauty in music and performance in the year to come.

'Memphis Bill' Makes Good Where McGraw Failed
COLLEGE INFLUX HELD CAUSE

By DAVID J. WALSH
(N. S. Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, May 17.—(INS)—Somewhat less than one year ago, the boys, greatly saddened by an event that had just taken place, sat themselves down in a right-of-way, wrote a number of very interesting passages about the outrage that had been visited upon John J. McGraw.

I'm not much on anniversaries, particularly those that do not matter. But it's about time to call in the outfielders on that one, if not with the idea of making amends, at least to be decent enough to return what we've taken.

In order words, we gave so ungrudgingly to McGraw that we had to take something, by inference, from his successor, young Mr. William Terry. I now propose to give it back. This, of course, is very generous of me but then it pays to be broad and my warm, impulsive nature is the talk of the town.

Briefly, we were wrong about Mr. Terry although, at that, he was bright enough to pay us no heed, which, generally speaking, is a good idea. He has accepted the "nothing" ball club that McGraw managed to assemble and has taken it into a near-top first place in the National league.

Barring one man, nobody is hitting. But everybody is hustling and, if that fact doesn't touch a sensitive response down under the man's waistcoat, then John McGraw is tender like a nail file.

For, if anything, we were more wrong about McGraw. A great personality once, the parade had gone by him—and strangely this was known neither to the writers who lauded him nor to the men they wrote about. Times changed but McGraw didn't. It was that simple.

At the end, his men were more, spiritless. They brooded darkly upon their wrongs. He was a man who seldom praised and never flattered but, instead, scolded pretty violently in the patter of the stoke hold and, after a time, I don't doubt it all became wearing and a little tiresome.

He simply had forgotten that he wasn't talking to the Dahlsens, the McGraws and the Merces or even the Fletchers, the Doyles and the Hertzogs of a later generation. They were of a harder, more rugged school and John's florid ways were largely theirs.

But the college man entered baseball, bringing with him certain fixed prejudices and beliefs which in time gained general acceptance and were wholly inconsistent with John's vocabulary when properly aroused. This, by the old standard, was only picturesque and engaging but by the new, it was sour. McGraw began losing games and then pennants and even ball players.

At the moment they unfrocked him, for instance, he was still looking for a second baseman to replace the second baseman he had run out of town some years before. The latter was a Mr. Frisch who is still out in St. Louis, helping to win pennants for McGraw, and it is no more than reasonable to assume that, had he remained in our midst, McGraw might still be here too. But this would have deprived us of the young man known as William Terry, and somehow that would not seem at all sensible now.

"He's the coming man of baseball," said Bill Klem, the umpire, yesterday as he nursed a cracked collar bone at a local hospital.

Of course, the latter had no reason to like McGraw but this, in itself, is significant. Not enough people liked Mr. McGraw in success to get him by when failure loomed.

GLENN, SHIELDS CORNELL'S CREW TO BE SENT ABROAD ROW AT LONG BEACH

NEW YORK, May 17.—(INS)—The United States Lawn Tennis association's decision to send Ellsworth Vines, of Pasadena, Cal., Keith Gledhill, of Santa Barbara, Cal., and Frank Shields of New York to the Wimbledon championships as America's representatives, caused some surprise today.

Vines, American and British champion, is the only one of the trio favored to make the Davis cup team. For the past five years the entire Davis cup team has been entered at Wimbledon.

A'S MAY PLAY SUN. GAMES AT CAMDEN

CAMDEN, N. J., May 17.—(UP)—Camden has voted to repeal its blue laws so that Philadelphia's two major league clubs can play here on the Sabbath. The Pennsylvania legislature recently failed to abolish that state's Sunday restrictions against baseball and citizens are hopeful the teams will schedule Sunday games here.

VINES DRAWS NUNNS IN DAVIS CUP PLAY

MONTREAL, May 17.—(UP)—Wilmer Allison of Texas will meet Dr. Jack Wright, and Ellsworth Vines of California will meet Gilbert Nunn in the opening matches of the United States-Canada Davis Cup tie tomorrow, according to the draw made today.

YANKS CONSIDER BENCHING RUTH Stars Chase Heman, Rout Olive, 10-5

DALEY'S HOMER WITH 2 ABOARD AIDS S. A. WIN

Santa Ana's Stars saw daylight at last today.

They climbed out of the clammy National league cellar last night, driving the great Rudy Heman out of the box in three innings and thereby routing Olive's Packers, 10 to 5, at Olive.

Usually the toughest pitcher in the league for the Stars, Heman just didn't have it. For the first time in many years, the big Dutchman failed to last the route. He retired after 2 1/3 innings, hopelessly beaten by the Santa Ana's having combined his change-of-pace for 9 runs and 18 hits.

Ed Daley really put the skids under Heman. Daley doubled in the very first inning, driving in two runs. He came up again in the second with two, and rammed a homer to right-center for three more tallies. Heman lost interest after that wallop, and when the Stars began pecking away at him again in the third he was hoisted in favor of Cliff Hammond, a tall young man with a "sinker" which practically ended Santa Ana's demonstrations.

Joe Cornelius pitched all the way for Santa Ana and, with a nice lead to work on, had things his own way. He staggered a bit in the fifth and sixth, then settled down and finished impressively. Defensive deficiencies first got Heman in wrong. Rudy booted Heman's hunt for a first inning start.

er. Then Denney beat out a bunt, and Rod Ballard was safe on Scott's error loading the bases. Daley's double scored Hill and Denney.

Manager "Eeny" Wilcox opened the second with his first of three successive singles. Hill got an infield hit. Ballard's double past Scott scored Wilcox, and Daley's homer took care of Hill and Ballard.

Young Wilcox and Cornelius opened the third with singles. Hill walked, forcing in Young, and Denney singled to center, scoring Wilcox and Cornelius. Hammond replaced Heman at this point and stopped the rally. The only run Santa Ana manufactured came the next inning on Preble's pass, Sears' forceout, singles by Young and Wilcox.

Olive got one in the first on Griffith's double, Heman's single and Gunther's fly to left; three in the fifth on singles by Griffith and Thiery. Cornelius' effort on Hammond's sacrifice, and "Chico" Hartfield's double, one in the sixth on Sand's single, Bushman's single and Sears' throw-in which hit Bushman.

Outfielder "Brass" Davis, who also beat Santa Ana with a similar blow last week, put Whittier far ahead with a homer in the fourth inning with the bases full. The three Anaheim gunners were hit hard, and all were wild.

Rolph Signs State's New Fish Statute

SACRAMENTO, May 17.—(UP)—Fishing season for bass, crappies, sunfish and perch was cut in many sections of the state by 30 days when Gov. Rolph signed the fish protective measure today.

Season for these fish will open next year May 29 instead of May 1. It will terminate November 30.

The governor signed another bill altering the season and take of steelhead trout, trout and salmon as follows:

In the Russian, Napa and Navarro rivers and in certain portions of the American and Eel rivers, and in tide water in Districts 2, 3 and 15, steelhead trout and salmon may be taken from May 1 to the last day of February. Bag limit was set at three per day.

H. B. TORRANCE SHARE LEAD AS ANAHEIM LOSES

Huntington Beach and Torrance today shoved their noses out in front in the National Night league "baseball derby."

Anaheim and Westminster, which had figured with them in a four-way tie for the lead before last night's contests, fell back to third place when they lost to Whittier and Huntington Beach, respectively.

The 3-0 defeat of Westminster was largely due to superlative pitching by "Chico" Sabella, although the husky hurler's hitting also played a part in the outcome.

Sabella stopped the Avengers with five hits, well scattered, and opened a sixth-inning rally with a home run. Osborn followed with a safe hit, Schuchardt with a sacrifice, Menness with a single, Lieberman with a fielder's choice and Conrad with a bounder to Sauer which the Flyer third sack threw away. Osborn and Lieberman made the runs.

WHITTIER POUNDS THREE ANAHEIM HURLERS

Whittier thrashed Anaheim thoroughly, routing the home team, 10-2, at Anaheim last night. This was one of the worst defeats ever suffered by the defending champions of the National league.

Outfielder "Brass" Davis, who also beat Santa Ana with a similar blow last week, put Whittier far ahead with a homer in the fourth inning with the bases full. This sent Pitcher Rose to the showers, Whittier continuing its attack on Al Bushman who gave up three runs, three hits and a walk in the eighth. Greatly encouraged at their recent victories, Santa Ana's Stars return home Friday for three straight games in the Municipal Bowl. Fullerton will be first, then Torrance, then Anaheim.

Manager "Eeny" Wilcox is breathing easier as Third Baseman Tommy Young continues to improve with each game. Young got four hits against Olive, and handled four difficult chances smoothly.

Bill Sweet of Olive hit the hardest ball of the game—but it was a line drive that found a pocket in Tom Denney's glove in the fourth.

The attendance was pretty good, and Olive's "Big Ben" Geiker smiled in appreciation—although Ben doesn't like the idea of losing ball games to Santa Ana.

The Packers look like a good ball club on paper, and will always be hard to beat when Pitcher Heman is right.

BATTLING SLUMPS

COBB, GREATEST BATSMAN OF BASEBALL HISTORY, WENT TO BAT 40 TIMES WITHOUT GETTING A HIT.

HELLO HONEY! WHERE THE HECK WERE YOU KEEPING YOURSELF?

LEFTY O'DOUL, A GREAT BATTER, WENT HITLESS ON 28 STRAIGHT TRIPS TO THE PLATE THIS SEASON—WHEN HE FINALLY SINGLED, HE KNELT AND KISSED FIRST BASE.

WE'RE LAST IN TEAM BATTING BUT WON THE PENNANT IN 1906.

MILLS, USUALLY AT BEST WHEN ODDS ARE GREATEST, MUST BE "HOT" TO TAG WILLIE COLLINS

Clever Willie Collins, a fast-moving Los Angeles colored lightweight who has never been defeated, puts his record on the well known block at Delhi tomorrow night. He meets Nat Mills in a main event of tremendous possibilities.

Mills right now is the best fighter from a crowd-pleasing standpoint, at the Orange County Athletic club's disposal. Once in a while he throws a poor fight; but when the odds are greatest the Irvine youngster is usually invincible, and he always gives the bugs a run for their dough.

Nat will have to be "right" to handle Collins. Little Willie is a superlative boxer, a stiff puncher and has plenty of heart. His handlers think he is a better prospect than Young Peter Jackson, the current state featherweight champion who started as an amateur at Delhi.

Nine other bouts are on the program. These follow:

"Bud" McCarter, Orange, vs. Pat McKinney, Pico, 165 pounds; Bill Wench, Pico, 140 pounds; Reggie Kerr, Anaheim, vs. Doyle Richards, Santa Ana, 165 pounds; Joe Dick, Los Angeles, vs. Paul Brown, Santa Ana, 128 pounds; Frank Venegas, Anaheim, 130 pounds, vs. Andy Lujan, Pico; Lalo King, Pico, vs. Mexican Fleet, Los Angeles, 115 pounds; Neal Foster, El Segundo, vs. Herman, El Modena, 135 pounds; Toby Vigil, Pico, vs. Joe Dominguez, Anaheim, 112 pounds; Pete Castro, Pico, vs. Joe Rivers, Anaheim, 115 pounds.

TROJANS PICK 1C4A SQUAD AT TRIALS

LOS ANGELES, May 17.—(INS)—With a "bull market" on Trojan track, Coach Dean Cromwell today was recruiting the University of Southern California's maximum strength for the Eastern invasion in which S. C. will compete in the I. C. A. A. A. meet at Boston May 26 and 27, and the N. C. A. A. meet at Chicago June 16 and 17.

While Stanford still rules a slight favorite to capture the intercollegiate title, the Trojans are ready to step into the breach to uphold the laurels of the coast if the Stanford casualty list of Eastman, Habes, Miller and Deacon falls to diminish.

Personnel today will determine the personnel of the Trojan squad. Approximately 16 men will be taken on the trip.

-- News Behind the News --

WASHINGTON
By Paul Mallon

BASIC
The Administration slipped a fast one over on Congress in the Farm Bill.

The House was sound asleep on it. The Senate opened one eye at the last minute but did not see what it was all about. There is no wonder. All that was involved was one innocent looking little word—"basic."

If Congress had left that in the bill it would have applied only to basic agricultural products. Everyone knows what those are—wheat, corn, cotton and such. But with that word left out the field of operations increases a hundred fold. Hides, meats, cloth, shoes and anything that has the faintest connection with competition with any product of any farm anywhere comes within the purview of the bill.

The confidential estimate of government statisticians themselves is that the government took control of 46 per cent of American industry by that one master stroke.

It came about in a strange way.

The word basic was NOT in the marketing agreement provision of the bill passed by the House. It was in the licensing section. As the Senate was passing the bill Senator Stephens slipped the word into the other section. He is supposed to have been helped by Vice President Garner who was in sympathy with the move. But that is another story.

When the Senators and Representatives started ironing out the differences between their bills, word came from the Agriculture Department that the word basic should be deleted everywhere. No explanation was offered. Congress had the habit of doing what the Administration wanted, and did it.

They had to go to the extent of passing a separate law to cut the word basic out of the marketing agreement section because it had been approved by both Houses. Republican Leader Snell grew suspicious in the House. He asked what was going on. Democratic Chairman Jones in charge of the measure explained they were merely correcting a clerical error. He neglected to say the government was gaining a 45 per cent control of industry thereby.

The progressives were not so easily satisfied in the Senate. La Follette, Bennett, Clark and others raised Cain and voted against the change.

It was too late for a contest.

The thing was put over on the cloakroom plea that it was needed to take care of sugar people in the west.

That plea does not hold water. The bill would have taken care of sugar as it passed the Senate. That commodity was specifically mentioned. But the specific mention was cut out at the same time the word basic was stricken out, again on orders from the Agriculture Department.

Thus on the pretext of getting sugar into a bill it was already in they took in nearly half the universe.

It will be bigger news for the packers and the Sugar Institute than it will be to the beet growers. Packer attorneys are already studying the possibility of using it for a modification of the anti-trust law decree against them. Institute people might similarly use it in a case now pending against it in the circuit court of appeals, New York.

Indeed there are those here who insist the opposition of the packers to the farm bill was bought off by the elimination of this little word basic.

You can never prove that. Neither can you remove the suspicion.

BONUS

The Administration took the Red bonus marchers through the hoop at the outset. It was a smooth piece of work. The basis of it was the assumption that no man sees red on a full stomach. The Government actually killed the demonstration with kindness. Everything possible was provided for their comfort. A nice camp was fixed up for them ONLY about a full day's walk from the White House. They could eat their fill and sit around on the grassy slopes of the Potomac and talk politics.

The boys took to it better than you might have thought at first. They promised to be good and go home when told. They also agreed not to run their skulls up against any police billes.

For the first few days at least it was more like a D. A. R. convention.

A fancy tale that Mr. Roosevelt was scared into taking the rough edges off his veterans cuts has been broadcast through the land. The radical bonus army is being given the credit. Nothing could be further from the truth.

The inside fact about that is the first cuts saved more money than Mr. Roosevelt intended. The confidential figures will show now that the veterans cutting program would have saved $25,000,000 more than he intended. He cut too deep. All the modifications you are reading about are merely going to make up for that excess twenty five millions of savings.

In the end the actual savings will be exactly the same as announced at the start.

This way of handling the bonus army was worked out by Mr. Roosevelt last July. That was the time Mr. Hoover was grappling with the problem. Mr. Roosevelt then told intimates the way he would have handled the thing was as possible and invite them to take forest jobs or go home. He thought it a marvelous opportunity for a ten strike.

The bonus leaders declined to say a word against the White House the first few days of their visit here. One explained: "The President is cooperating with us very fully."

They also put the Communist Leader Levine under wraps. They pleaded with new men not to call it the Levine outfit "because it would discredit us." Levine happened to be present and heard this statement. He said nothing.

NOTES

There are many snake farms around the country so even snakes come within the limitations of the farm bill. . . . Vice President Garner is supposed to have helped Stephens put through the "basic" amendment because of long standing opposition to the packers. . . . The Farm bill now leaves only 55 per cent of American industry yet to be brought under Federal control through the Industrial Control bill. . . . The flippant Senatorial cloakroom remark now is that they "cannot find out who the Farm bill until Prof. Tugwell translates it from the Russian" . . . A midwestern District Attorney is warmly pursuing a recent Administration appointee, trying to get a Senatorial investigation. . . . He claims the appointment was involved in an improper tax case presented to the Internal Revenue bureau and wants to make a scene about it.

UNFREEZING

Insiders here will tell you that the Administration is more interested in the buoyancy of the Stock Market than it cares to admit. Every point that the market rises eases the burden of banks and insurance companies which have delicate situations to work out. Also an optimistic market definitely stimulates the purchase of tangible goods such as automobiles. Both of those considerations are prominent in plans for recovery.

This does not infer that excessive speculation is to be encouraged. It does infer that contributions to bullish activity are well regarded.

This factor helps account for American Telephone's optimistic statement accompanying dividend action—despite the fact that the company has been losing business steadily. It also provides a motive for favoring this corporation's stockholders once more in spite of continued payroll reductions.

The same factor also figures in the rapid gains of U. S. Steel Common—which has small chance of paying a dividend for a long time to come. Steel and Telephone are key stocks, very widely held by both banks and corporations. From the psychological and collateral angles it is more important that they should act in buoyant fashion than any other listed corporations.

Several members of the Committee for the Nation—which has excellent Washington connections—have been buying stocks actively. It is not likely that they would have done so if they thought such activity would be viewed with disapproval or would be ridiculed by events.

The Stock Market has seen some of the most skillful professional maneuvering in its history recently. Public interest in stocks revived very suddenly and experts have done all they could to sustain it. One effective stunt is to mark up a popular stock with a single order running to thousands of shares. The size of the order impresses the ticker boards and they usually respond promptly.

A large volume of liquidating on behalf of closed Michigan banks has been done very skillfully in the past two weeks. Precautions were taken to avoid any appearance of dumping and the liquidators have been pleasantly surprised at the prices they were able to obtain.

DISCIPLINE
The Stock Exchange has won its battle with Allied Chemical although no announcement has yet been made. The delay is for the purpose of letting the corporation find a way to save its face.

RETIREMENT
Two of the most successful brokers on the floor of the Exchange sold their seats a few weeks ago. They could have been called as important witnesses in the Senate investigation. They will not be available for that now. If they want their seats back when the storm is over there is reason to believe they can have them without financial sacrifice.

NATIONAL CITY
Percy Rockefeller's retirement as a director of the National City Bank was a well guarded surprise. His formerly dominant voice in the bank's affairs has waned considerably in the past few months. He was very close to Charles E. Mitchell and the change in the bank's policy since Mitchell's retirement has not fitted with his ideas. He has pulled out of the Wall Street picture almost entirely since his appearance before the Senate Committee last year.

The largest individual stockholder in National City today is Trans-America Corporation—which means Cinnamin. He controls about 10 per cent of the stock. Despite his unpopularity in Wall Street he is likely to get a post on the National City's board of directors—

Free Vacations At Calalina Offered By Register

NINE PERSONS TO BE GUESTS AT BIG RESORT

The Santa Ana Register through R. M. Conklin, circulation manager, announced last night an opportunity for young people of this community to get free vacation trips to Catalina Island.

Conklin said arrangements had been completed with the Santa Catalina Island company for seven vacation trips, two of which included an extra guest, to go to Santa Ana and Orange county boys and girls who work on securing new subscriptions for The Register. Details, he said could be obtained by calling at The Register office.

Conklin described Catalina as an ideal vacation place, as follows: "Catalina Island playground, lies 25 miles from Los Angeles Harbor. It is 22 miles long and from one quarter to seven and one-half miles wide. Extremely mountainous, the highest peak, (Orizaba) is 2111 feet high. All sorts of diversions are to be enjoyed at Catalina, including bathing, boating, speed-boats, fishing, golf, tennis, hiking, horseback riding, hydroplaning, and excursions by land and water to many points of interest.

"The palatial steamship 'Catalina' and 'Avallon' with orchestra for dancing, ply between the island and the mainland the year around. The trip across the channel affords a delightful two-hour ocean cruise.

Winners of these Register 'vacation' trips will stay at the famous Catalina Island Villa and will enjoy all the thrills of this glorious vacation resort.

Prizes are as follows: first, two week vacation for two persons; second, one week vacation for two persons; and others of one week for one person each.

MONEY— By Willis Thornton

Though Germany increased her currency five times during the war, prices were held down by law. When the blockade was lifted, and restrictions removed, prices began to skyrocket. At first people were pleased, feeling that it was a price rise, not realizing that it was a money decline.

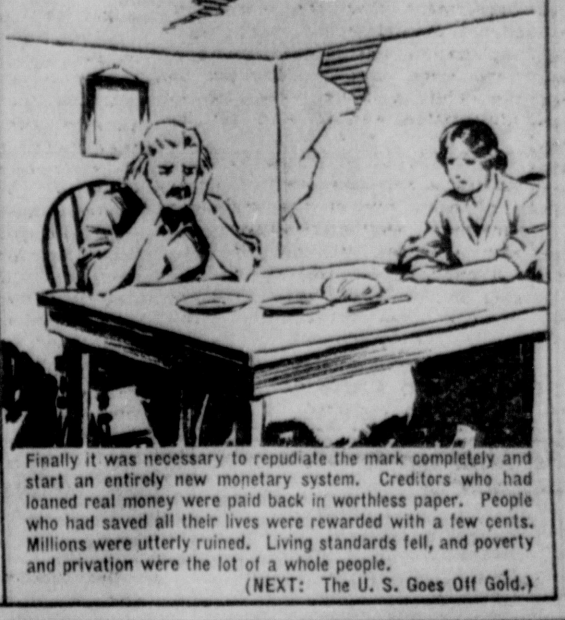

Russia deliberately repudiated the gold ruble in its efforts to destroy all trace of the old regime. Everyone who had any rubles lost 100%. Austria followed Germany in printing paper money to pay debts that could be paid in no other way.

CHAPTER 9—PRINTING-PRESS AFTERMATH

Prices continued to rise in Germany until in 1923 it became clear to everyone that it was not prices that were rising, but money that was becoming worthless. One German wrote, "Yesterday my chop at luncheon cost 600,000 marks, but today it cost 1,500,000."

Sketches by Art Krenz

Finally it was necessary to repudiate the mark completely and start an entirely new monetary system. Creditors who had loaned real money were paid back in worthless paper. People who had saved all their lives were rewarded with a few cents. Millions were utterly ruined. Living standards fell, and poverty and privation were the lot of a whole people.

NEEDS CALL FOR BIG RESPONSE ON POPPY DAY

"Unprecedented demands for veteran relief in this community during the past year and indications of continued need in the present period of economic readjustment, make it imperative that our 1933 Buddy Poppy sale exceed any yet held in the history of the movement," Commander Neal E. Mettler, of Ernest L. Kellogg Post No. 1689, Veterans of Foreign Wars, declared today.

"These Buddy Poppies, every one of which is made by a disabled veteran, in some government hospital or home, and for which he is paid out of the proceeds of the sale of same, permits him to provide himself with some little, to him, luxury, or something needful, that he might be otherwise denied, recalls the sacrifices made by him and his 'Buddies—over there' opposing a foreign foe, in a foreign land and under conditions that could not be comprehended by those not called upon to undergo."

"Citizens who purchase these bright red silk blossoms, to be sold Saturday, May 27, help to perpetuate the memory of those who made the 'supreme sacrifice' and at the same time alleviate the suffering among the disabled comrades, who have now been asked to make the further sacrifice of a large portion, if not all of their compensation benefits heretofore received from the Federal government, and now by it passed along to the local and county authorities."

Much favorable comment has been heard from the showing of the film "Lost We Forget" last Wednesday and Thursday at the Fox West Coast theater and which will be again shown between now and Buddy Poppy day.

Senior Vice Commander Chas. E. Camm, of the post and Mrs. Juanita Cozad, of the auxiliary have charge of all arrangements of the sale, and will have the assistance of a large corps of helpers.

Grain Growers' Field Day Set

Grain growers and grain hay growers will be interested in the announcement of the date set for the annual field day under the auspices of the Agricultural Extension service. This is the occasion when growers visit the variety and cultural plots to witness the response.

Those attending are asked to assemble at 10 a. m., Friday, May 19, at the corner of Central avenue and Trabuco road, one mile north of the Irvine station.

Earl Coke, agronomist from the University of California, will speak on "New Developments in the Grain Industry."

It is anticipated that the program will conclude by 12:30 o'clock. All growers are invited to attend.

Baby Is Named After Roosevelt

Either Mr. and Mrs. Edward Young of Santa Ana canyon are loyal Democrats or else they are strong supporters of President Roosevelt, for their son, who was born Monday last, has been named Franklin Delano Young. That's the word brought back by Dr. J. I. Clark, who officiated at the birth of the president's namesake.

TROUBLE IN CO. L RECALLED BY OLD PAPER

Recalling the stirring days of '98 when President McKinley called for volunteers to fight the Spanish forces in the Philippines is a copy of the San Francisco Weekly Examiner, dated May 12, 1933, containing the roster of the Seventh Infantry, California National Guard, then camped at Presidio, San Francisco, awaiting orders to sail for Manila, now in possession of Mrs. Dwight E. Magill, residing on Palm avenue, near Garden Grove.

Included in the company rosters of the regiment are the names of the officers and men of Company "L," largely recruited in and about Santa Ana. Former Supervisor S. H. Finley, well known Santa Ana man, is shown as captain, commanding the company.

According to the story accompanying the regimental roster, trouble arose in the camp when it became known that the name of First Lieutenant Greenleaf had been omitted from the roster of the Santa Ana company, and its place taken by Lieutenant Nathan A. Elm. A protest against the elimination of Lieutenant Greenleaf was presented at a mass meeting by Private Clyde Bishop, spokesman for Greenleaf's supporters, the story adds. Apparently there must have been some

Children Slow In Getting Ball Passes

Can it be that youngsters in Santa Ana are not interested in obtaining free passes to night ball games played by the Santa Ana All-Stars?

That's hard to believe, but it is a fact that school children under 14 years of age who are eligible for the passes have not been coming to the police station to get them, according to Chief of Police Floyd W. Howard.

Chief Howard pointed out that the children will not be admitted to the games free without the passes, which may be had for the asking.

4-H DINNER

LA HABRA, May 17.—The Thimble Thinkers, 4-H girls of Mrs. C. W. Rowley's club, met at the home of Mrs. R. E. Launer recently, and planned a dinner for the members of the boys' and girls' 4-H clubs of La Habra.

Following class at the Washington grammar school. It will be given during the graduation exercises.

Guests at this dinner will be the 4-H members in La Habra who are also members of this year's graduation class.

FIVE STUDENTS FROM COUNTY WIN HONORS

The names of five Orange county students, two of whom reside in Santa Ana, appear in the official announcement of awards of scholarships and academic honors, released by President Robert Gordon Sproul of the University of California in connection with the commencement exercises held late last week in Berkeley.

Among those awarded the Levi Strauss scholarship was John Hadley Pryor Jr., 145 Jefferson street, Midway City, an under graduate of the university.

The Flood Fellowship in commerce was given to Frederick Maxwell Jayne, 315 East Washington street, Santa Ana, who also was awarded the highest honors in the college of commerce.

William Oscar Reinhardt, 1900 Valencia street, was awarded honors in medical sciences.

Manfred Mueller of Orange was given the highest honors in chemistry, and a similar distinction in military science was awarded Sterling Murdock, also of Orange.

MOTOR PATROL BENEFIT DANCE SET FOR MAY 26

Tickets were on sale today with all Orange county members of the California highway patrol for its annual benefit dance to be held on May 26, at the Valencia ballroom, on the State highway between Santa Ana and Anaheim.

Window cards appeared throughout the city yesterday advertising the dance and leaders are of the opinion that this year's dance possibly will be the largest in point of attendance the peace officers have ever had.

Special entertainment will mark the occasion in the form of guest artists from Los Angeles and Hollywood's film colony.

Ernie Sawyer, one of the leaders on the dance committee, declared today that the local squad was anxious for the public to know that there would be no high pressure tactics used to sell tickets, but that the officers were anxious for the public to know that the dance each year would be improved more and more so that it eventually would become one of the outstanding entertainments of the year.

"We don't want people to think they have to buy the tickets, but we want them to feel that when they do buy, they will be getting

S. A. Teacher Invited To World Fair

Miss Ruth Bartlett, instructor of the lip reading class of the adult education department of the Santa Ana schools has been selected to direct the National Tournament of Lip Reading this year at the Century of Progress, World's Fair, in Chicago. She will appear also on the National Education program.

Miss Bartlett, a graduate of Pomona college, lost her hearing as a result of illness approximately 10 years ago and since that time has re-educated herself. Today she is recognized as one of the best lip readers in the United States. She has conducted classes in lip reading for deaf people of Santa Ana, as a part of the adult education program of the city schools, for the past two years.

ANAHEIM HOST TO DISTRICT CHURCH MEET

The Anaheim Church of Christ will be host Friday to the district meeting of the Christian church that will meet at 2:30 o'clock in the city park for the afternoon session and in the church for the evening session. More than 350 are expected to attend. The Rev. W. S. Buchanan, pastor of the Santa Ana First Christian church and district president, will preside.

As this will be the laymen's session, afternoon talks will be given by M. D. Haskell, of Santa Ana, L. O. Colp, of Fullerton, Roy Bramley, of Brea, and Hugh Gerard, of Santa Ana. Officers will be elected.

Following the evening dinner at the church there will be both adult and young people's discussion sessions. At the latter, Ed Homan, of Fullerton, will preside. The theme will be "Youth in the Church" and the slogan, "To Help You and Your Society."

At 3:45 o'clock in the afternoon F. L. Platt of Whittier will talk on "The Church of Jesus Christ." Churches in the district to be represented will be Anaheim, Fullerton, Brea, La Habra, Whittier, Huntington Beach, Orange and Santa Ana.

Every California highway leads to a Bank of America branch

The "everywhere-ness" of Bank of America in California has a powerful appeal to its more than a million and a half depositors. The practical and psychological value of having their bank "travel" with them wherever they go throughout the length and breadth of this far flung state is obvious. This "everywhere-ness" also means widely distributed resources—a vitally important factor in any banking structure.

Court of Awards Held By Girl Scouts in County Park

Preceded by a basket supper served at 6 o'clock, the Girl Scout Court of Awards was held Saturday evening in Irvine park. Tables were decorated with spring flowers by the central committee, who also had provided hot coffee, sugar and cream for the supper menu.

A tribute to mothers was given by Miss Mildred Kemper of Troop L, who recited the poem, "When Mother Was a Little Girl," followed by the Scout grace, sung by the girls. Mothers were presented with old-fashioned nosegays composed of flowers by their daughters.

Games were played, and the program, beginning at 7 o'clock, took place about a blazing campfire erected by the girls, assisted by W. Tedford. "America" was followed by the pledge to the flag and a trumpet solo, "America the Beautiful," played by Miss Irene Noble. The Scout hymn, sung by the girls who completed a circle about the campfire, was followed by another scout song, "We're All Together Again."

Troop 2, under the leadership of Mrs. R. C. Harris and Mrs. E. F. Bruning, demonstrated knot tying, while Troop 3, directed by Mrs. Rose Lutz, demonstrated law, slogan, motto and promise. The candle lighting ceremony followed, with Mrs. C. W. Tedford, chairman of the central committee, lighting the first candle representing the light of scouting. This was passed to Mrs. R. R. Kussick, leader of troop No. 1, who lighted three tapers held by Miss Dorothy Tedford, representing duty to God and country; Miss Josephine Butler, representing duty to other people; and Miss Jean Brinkerhoff, representing a girl's duty to herself.

Talks were given by Miss Jean McAnley on "What Camp Experience Means to a Girl Scout"; Miss Frances Was on "Activities of Troop No. 1"; Miss Alice McKee on "What Girl Scouts Expect From Grown-ups"; and Mrs. C. W. Tedford on "What Grown-ups Expect From Girl Scouts."

Harrison White, county Boy Scout executive, made the awards, explaining the true meaning of scouthood. The Rev. F. A. Weckman spoke briefly, praising Boy and Girl Scouts for their work and ideals. In closing, the Good-night song was sung by all present.

Far Lands Suggested By Table Details Of "Brunchon"

Vagabonding through far countries was a delightful experience shared in spirit, by members of Sigma chapter, Beta Sigma Phi sorority when they and their nine rushees were entertained at 11 o'clock "brunchon" Sunday morning in the home of the chapter sponsor, Mrs. Newell L. Moore, 1908 North Main street.

Tour lists in the sorority colors, black and gold, directed the guests from table to table for the four courses served. Each table represented a different country and toasts given were appropriate to each in turn.

Miss Dorothy Lindsey introduced the chapter's welcome "Holland Dutch, at a table centered with tiny windmill, canal with sailboats, and peasant figures. At the Egyptian table, Miss Katherine Spicer repeated "words first uttered by an Egyptian mummy," and transcribed on a bit of papyrus from a Luxor tomb.

Japan inspired a brief travelogue by Miss Laura Malin at a table gay with pagodas and gelaish girls. Lines from Don Blandings' book of verse, "Hula Moon," were repeated by Miss Marie LaBrucerie in linking the lei of Hawaiian hospitality with the clove of Beta Sigma Phi. Grass huts, cocoa palms and native figures adorned the table.

Oddly shaped cactus plants, tiny Indian baskets and pottery, rugs and tapestries suggested the American Indian at the table where Miss Juanita Fowler presided and even more colorful was the table of Old Mexico in charge of Miss Delphina Lopez. "El Toreador" in miniature was complete with bull-coring and spectators, and enhancing the atmosphere was the toast in liquid Spanish, which Miss Lopez, and her exquisite Spanish shawl of time-mellowed ivory and amethyst hues.

Wild animals of the jungle stalked through the deep grasses of the table where Miss Lucille Meyer voiced greetings for Africa; Alaska was toasted by Miss Ellen Snelley, whose table presented an igloo and lone Eskimo amidst the northern lights.

The rushees so pleasantly honored were the Misses Mary Lynn Wade, Lucille McDermott, Loretta Emspacher, Marjorie Berkner, Marie Emspacher, Cecelia Boyesen, Beulah Dudgeon, Louise Bigelow and Evelyn Yount. To each was presented a corsage of yellow sweet peas and roses tied with ribbon.

Sorority members attending included Mrs. Moore, sponsor; Miss Beulah May, honorary member; Miss Mary Ford, president; Miss Ione Hanson, in charge of all arrangements; Juanita Fowler, Marie Forsberg, Dorothy Lindsey, Delphina Lopez, Laura Malin, Lillian McDonald, Lucille Meyer, Lynette Robb, Elsie Siemen, Ellen Snelley, Katherine Spicer, Mildred Staples, Ruth Stephenson and Mary Louise Wallace.

Informal Club Holds Luncheon Meeting
Red roses and sweet peas in great profusion adorned the home of Mrs. A. J. Lasby, 315 East Seventeenth street, for the meeting of the Busy Bee club held last week. For the delicious 1 o'clock luncheon, Mrs. Lasby was assisted in serving by her niece, Mrs. Frank Hanson. The afternoon was passed informally with sewing and chat, with blocks proving one of the more popular forms of needlework.

Present were Mesdames Clarence G. White, A. B. Gardner, Roy Bealls, Will Lindsey, Ida Kimball, Jack Miller, A. J. Smiley, George Greer, Dave McBurney, Will McBurney, Frank Hanson, and the hostess, Mrs. A. J. Lasby.

Babies Are Christened At Family Rites in Tedford Home

Gleaming tapers of ivory white set amidst sweet peas and petunias of the same waxen hue formed the setting for a pretty ceremony enacted in the Clarence Tedford home, 2602 North Broadway, Sunday morning, when two baby girls of the Tedford family circle were christened.

Rites were administered by the Reverend P. F. Schrock, pastor of the First Congregational church, and a family friend of long standing, to wee Janet Eleanor Tedford, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. W. Granville Tedford of Beverly Hills, and to tiny Millicent Tedford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm E. Tedford of the same city.

Guests remained for the day, enjoying a delectable dinner menu. The party included in addition to Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Tedford and daughter Dorothy, of the home, Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Tedford and Dr. and Mrs. W. Granville Tedford and their newly christened small daughters: Master Richard Tedford, brother of Janet Eleanor, and Malcolm E. Tedford, brother of Millicent. Choral Club Achieves Marked Success In Music Festival
Scoring a success that was gratifying to every individual member of the Dorcas Choral club, the Music Festival given by the club last Friday night was declared to be one of the most beautiful programs ever given in the church, according to a large and appreciative audience.

The four divisions of the program opened with the Indian scene where a campfire flickered amidst the tepees and greenery. Indian maidens and warriors gave life and romance to the setting as Mrs. Georgia Lewis charmingly sang "Pale Moon" (Logan) to accompaniment of the instrumental trio, Miss Lenora Tompkins, pianist; George Evans, violinist, and Edward H. Burns, cellist.

For the Southern scene which followed, the stage setting offered a complete change and the audience was transported to "the land of the cotton." Quaint Negro spirituals and melodies were sung by chorus and quartet, and Cleo Bowers Hein, soloist, rocked the little plectrums to sleep with a musical "Lullaby."

Again the scene was changed to gypsy campfires and Romany men and maids in vivid attire as Mrs. June Burns and Jerry Hall sang "Home to Our Mountains," from Verdi's "Il Trovatore," expressing the Gypsy love for freedom. Another outstanding number of this group, was the violin solo played by George Evans.

Last, and claimed by many in the audience as the most beautiful, was the Garden scene with its rose-laden trellises and swinging gates, amidst which garden melodies were presented. Mrs. Harry Hayes, director of the Choral club, sang two charming solos, "May Morning" (Denza) and "False Prophet."

Intermissions between the scenes were enlivened by instrumental trio numbers which included "Romance" by Matthews, and "Trees" by Rasbach. This trio also accompanied the various chorus selections, and one of the earlier numbers of the evening, was accompanied in turn by Mrs. W. B. Snow at the pipe organ.

To Mrs. Harry N. Hayes went special credit for her successful direction of the Dorcas Choral club, not only in the Music Festival but throughout the year. Warm praise was accorded also to Mrs. W. A. Davidson, program chairman.

As a finale to their interesting year of musical endeavor, the club members will picnic next Thursday in Anaheim City park, with election of officers as chief business of importance.

Late News From Orange And Nearby Towns

BOOK REVIEWS FOR MEMBERS WOMAN'S CLUB

ORANGE, May 17.—Selecting for her May Reviews a group of books as varied in subject matter and style as the moods of the spring-time itself, Virginia Cole Pritchard, of Burbank, appeared before the Orange Woman's club Monday in a program of marked charm.

Of timely interest was her review of "Looking Forward" by President Franklin D. Roosevelt. Pages filled with constructive thinking and planning, depicting a story of courage and ideals, have made the book well worth reading she stated.

The program was opened with a review of "Bunga Bunga" by Stephen King Hall, an Englishman, who, according to the reviewer, gives a delightful story of a visit to a imaginary island. Reviews of "The House of Exile" by Nora Wain, a narrative of a young girl's experience with the aristocracy of China, one of three books of the year which Mrs. Pritchard would value highly in her own library; and of "The Odyssey of Cabeza de Vaca" by Morris Bishop, with setting laid in Florida and Spain in 1500, followed. She referred to "Anthony Adverse," by Hervey Allen, which will not be released to the public until late this month.

Given consideration as especially appealing to men, was a group of books, "Grand Canary," by A. J. Cronin, "I Was a Spy," by Martha McKenna and "Dark Invader" by Captain Von Rintelen, all with World War setting.

Books of historical interest, "Revolution—1776," by John Hyde Preston, and "Andrew Jackson," by Marquis James, were reviewed, the first described as giving a new light on many historical characters, and the latter as giving a new light on Jackson, an aristocrat of the South rather than the man of the people as he is more commonly revealed.

The lack of idealism in "The New Road," by Merle Colby, was contrasted with the idealism of "Let the Hurricane Roar," by Rose Wilder Lane, a story of pioneer days.

In "As the Earth Turns," by Gladys Hasty Carroll, the reviewer saw the characteristics of Calvin Coolidge portrayed through characters in a story whose opening setting is typical of the bleak winters of New England.

Mrs. Pritchard discussed "Time to Live," a philosophical book in which the author, Gove Hambridge, makes the statement that each person has 24 freshly mended hours each day as his own. The simple pleasures of life provide the theme of the story. She gave a surprise review of "Black Bagdad," "a book of adventure, well worth reading," which she did not have on her May list.

The program included violin solos by George Evans of Santa Ana, accompanied at the piano by Miss Adelaide Proctor. Their numbers were introduced by Mrs. Christine Lambert, music chairman.

Mrs. Louis H. Frost, Mrs. James Ragan and Mrs. Otto Ristow, hostesses, served tea from a table centered with a bouquet of coral roses. Colorful mixed bouquets, with Scotch broom predominating, decked the stage and the clubrooms.

Petitions bearing the signatures of 700 local voters, asking the city officials to call a special election, and providing a proposed city ordinance of regulation of sale, were to have been presented yesterday. In the absence of the city attorney, H. L. Students In Protests On Board Action

ORANGE, May 17.—Protesting the high school board of trustees' move to eliminate the drama department from Orange Union High school next year, 200 students yesterday signed a petition requesting that the trustees reconsider their action.

Willard Gallely, junior student, circulated the petition, which read, "To the Board of trustees—We, the undersigned, do hereby make known our desire that drama and stagecraft be continued next year for the following reasons:

"Many of us have looked forward to this course with keen anticipation and those of us who have taken drama esteem it as one of the most valuable courses of our high school careers.

"We therefore respectfully petition that the board of trustees of Orange Union High school reconsider the action taken at the meeting of May 12, ordering the discontinuance of these two subjects."

"The Echo in the Valley" and "Rheumatism."

During the business session, in charge of the president, Jos. Witt, plans were made for the Orange County Farm bureau picnic to be held Saturday, June 3, at Irvine park. Members of the 4-H 40-piece band will entertain. All members and friends are invited to attend. A dinner preceded last night's meeting. Hostesses were Mesdames Fred Mueller, John Bosch and Fred Albers.

THE STRENGTH OF ANTAEUS

Greek legend tells of a mighty wrestler, Antaeus, whom no one could throw. For each time his body touched the ground, his strength was magically renewed.

"THE ANTAEUS OF INVESTMENTS."

So real estate might well be termed. Hard times have never vanquished it. For after each past depression, real property has sprung up with renewed vigor, increasing in activity and gaining value consistently with every betterment of general conditions.

But unlike the strength of Antaeus, the ever renewed strength of a well selected real estate investment results... not from magic... but from two well established facts:

(1) Real property is the most tangible of assets. Land and the improvements thereon do not vanish during a depression. They endure... solid and immovable. And when the period of recovery arrives, these assets are there to share soundly in the upward course of prices.

(2) Real property is among the most basic of assets. It meets the fundamental human need for shelter. And as renewed spending accelerates industry and employment, the demand for homes and business property is steadily intensified. Thus every improvement in conditions benefits the real estate owner.

Today, history is being repeated. The process of deflation has scarcely begun. Yet real estate offices already report a steadily growing stream of inquiries from prospective real estate buyers. And Pacific States Savings, itself, now has on hand the largest number of these inquiries in its history.

Alert men and women are looking ahead. They realize that, while deflation will help everyone, it will prove of especial advantage to the owner of real estate. And they are hastening to acquire good property now while prevailing prices are still well below normal.

44 Years of Basic Security

For 44 years, Pacific States Savings has loaned its savers' funds on desirable real property... largely homes in the most populous districts of California. For 44 years this type of security has continuously afforded our customers the two most vital of investment advantages: good interest, and basic protection. And now each day of deflation adds strength to the well conserved security behind these savers' funds.

FUN FOR THE WHOLE FAMILY

THE TINYMITES

STORY BY NAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KING

The little girls soon were asleep. For some time there was not a peep. Then Duncy said, "I'm sleepy too. Shall we nap on the ground?"

"Why not?" asked Scouty. "It's all right. It's no fun sitting up all night. We haven't seen a soul 'round here, so we'll be safe and sound."

They gathered leaves from here and there, but Copy said, "Gee, I don't care about a real soft place to snooze. I'd sleep most any place. To slumber land I'll soon be gone, and when I wake up with the dawn, I know I'll look much rested, with a smile upon my face."

Nobody said another word and soon some snoring could be heard. It woke up little Doty. She peeked out of her small house. It shortly made her smile to see the Tinies, peaceful as could be. She thought, how can they sleep down there. They're quiet as a mouse.

Soon afterwards the morning sun broke through and woke up everyone. The little girls dropped from the tree. Said one, "I have a plan."

"Nearly I see large strips of bark. I really think 'twould be a lark to build you Tinymites a tent. I'm positive we can."

Then Windy cried, "Hurrah for you! We'll gladly help you, if you do. Come, lads, start gathering the bark. I'll find some real tall sticks."

"We'll stand then up together, and I'm sure the tent will look just grand. Wee Scouty can arrange it. That is one of his Scout tricks."

And so the whole bunch worked away. 'Twas work that really seemed like play. The sticks were soon set up in place. Then bark was wrapped on tight.

Said Goldy, "That was time well spent. It looks just like an Indian tent. And now you boys will have a dandy place to sleep tonight."

THE HIGH ART OF BEING ON OPPOSITE SIDES

There are many people who are never quite satisfied with things as they are. At one time they are found on one side of a question, at another they are found on the opposite side. Only a few years ago we had a group of people in the country who were denouncing Congress because it was invading the prerogatives of the Executive. The dilatory and the debating Congress was criticized right and left. Those were the days when some of our industrial leaders who were not sympathetic with what they called the obstructions of Congress to legitimate business looked longingly toward Italy for a new form of government.

Conditions have been reversed since then. Congress is being criticized for abdicating its powers and placing them in the hands of the President. The Constitution, they say, did not intend that the deliberate functioning of Congress should not be handed over to the President. It was dangerous to place so much power in the hands of one man. It might be tolerable in time of war, but not in time of peace.

Well, it all depends upon where our interests lie. If they lie on the side of a conservative administration, as over against a progressive Congress, there are those who want power for the President. But if conditions are reversed, or the President happens to vision a change of policy which has obtained for a period of years they become very jealous of the constitutional powers of Congress. It is like the argument so often advanced that the governments should keep out of private business. But when private business, as during the last three years, finds itself powerless to solve its problems, they are very glad to welcome the hand of government and the money of all the people to save them from their distresses.

Now, we can understand why there are people who are so inconsistent. But what sticks us is that these people cannot see the inconsistency of their varied attitudes. We have no criticism for the man who honestly believes that the government should leave industry and all its concerns to private initiative. There is much to be said for that position. But what we cannot understand is that these sticklers for private initiative are calling for protective tariffs, asking for loans from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation when the banks have failed them, or demanding that the government give other extraordinary privileges exclusively to them.

But then, when were most of us consistent? It is so easy and so natural for most of us to believe that the right policy is always that which favors our interests, even though it may destroy the interests of others.

IS THE HIGHER EDUCATION OVER DONE?

Our colleges and universities, public and private, have fallen upon hard times. Scarcely one of them has become immune to financial straits. With salaries reduced, personnel curtailed, and severe economies practiced everywhere, their lot is by no means a happy one. The day of enlarging endowments and physical expansion has passed. States have had to curtail appropriations for their universities, and productive incomes of the private colleges can no longer be looked for from rich men—at least not in the immediate future.

And now the question is being raised whether we have not overdone the higher education. There certainly is a great over-production of teachers, engineers, chemists and other professional people; and now the graduate schools of business administration are turning out business executives to a pattern, and there are not executive positions to go round. This waiting for dead men's shoes is not an encouraging prospect for the graduate of the universities.

If, as has been claimed, our population is to remain practically static for the coming fifty years, the need for university graduates will be reduced. A principal of what corresponds to our high school, in Switzerland was asked what percentage of the graduates went into the universities, and the answer was less than one per cent. The fact is, there is no sphere for a larger number of university graduates in that country. Are we coming to the same condition? It is a question seriously asked. The cost of a four-year college course approximates $5000. If that is followed by a graduate course of three years more for a higher degree, between $3000 and $4000 can be added. By that time the candidate for a position is from 25 to 30 years old. And the question may reasonably be asked, "Is the risk of getting a place worth it?"

A college education has been set as the goal for every capable boy and girl here in this country. Its recipients have come to constitute our real aristocracy. Artemas Ward's regiment of brigadiers has been a joke ever since it was projected. Are we in danger of having a top-heavy aristocracy of learning?

HITLER PACIFIC BUT LOGICAL

Chancellor Hitler's address was received with acclaim in Germany, and almost relief in the rest of the world. The sense of relief is occasioned by his emphasis on the desire for peace, and his approval of Great Britain's equalizing of arms plan.

It will probably afford relief to all the nations, particularly because of the emphasis placed on non-aggression, and the approval of that idea in President Roosevelt's speech, in which Hitler declared Germany's willingness to join. Probably all of the nations of the world will thoroughly approve of this attitude, with the exception of Japan. Japan could hardly approve of non-aggression, and still pursue her course in China.

At the same time, Chancellor Hitler emphasized that which everyone expected he would emphasize, that Germany had the right to arm, in view of the fact that the nations had refused to keep their pledge, made in the treaty of Versailles, that they would disarm, and that Germany, in order to do this, if necessary, will withdraw from the League of Nations. In common with all leaders of Europe, Chancellor Hitler declared he could see no good, but only misery, in a new war in Europe.

If Germany withdraws from the League, because of the League's refusal to permit her to arm in harmony with the other nations, she will be amply justified, unless the other nations do as she suggests, and disarm. Tomorrow the peace conference re-convenes at Geneva, and certainly this question, in all of its importance, and carrying with it such momentous consequences, squarely confronts it. It is time that "shadow-boxing" is done away with, and that the representatives get right down to what is commonly spoken of as "brass tacks."

After many years, roller skating by adults is returning in many cities as a spring sport. We had hardly expected this before the fall of the year.

WHY THE OBJECTION TO FRANCE
SPENDING MONEY HERE?

It is difficult to understand the furor over the French proposal to spend several million dollars in "ballyhoo" in this country. That there has been a "to-do" over it is evident from the fact that the French government felt it sufficiently to deny the contemplated expenditure. A denial which Paul Mallon in the Whirligig says was laughed at in Washington. But why object to the French propagandizing our country to create a better understanding between the two countries? It will mean some French money being spent in the United States. The people of this country are sufficiently immunized against propaganda so that there should be no fear that they will be unbalanced by it. Furthermore by the publicity the proposal has received the people are sufficiently on guard against it. Then too, if we are sufficiently hard to impress, the French may spend quite a lot of money here. The French do not aim to overthrow our plan of government. They just want to introduce themselves to us and maybe change our ideas about certain debts. But if they spend enough for that purpose maybe we can afford to reduce the debt.

The French plan to concentrate somewhat on cultural matters. They propose to introduce us to more French music, etc. And that wouldn't hurt a bit, particularly if France pays for the concert tickets.

Prussia restores student duelling. Possibly they hope to produce a successor to Scarface Al Capone.

BOARD OF SUPERVISORS INSTITUTE
"STRAW" BALLOT

Yesterday the Board of Supervisors of the county determined to put the county to a "wet" and "dry" vote. There was no official demand of this kind made, but the initiative was taken by the members of the Board of Supervisors.

It carries with it no legal weight, and our observation is that in plebiscites that do not carry a legal significance, it is very difficult to get anything like a true expression. It probably means upon that proposition, that those desiring the sale of liquor in the county will be very active to get their vote out for this, as the whole purpose of it is to have weight or influence upon the Board, as it will have no legal significance of its own.

It will give that degree of encouragement to those who are desiring the sale of liquor in the unincorporated sections of Orange county.

Monument To McGuffey

San Francisco Chronicle
Dear to the heart of the school child of the last half of the last century was the name of McGuffey. For his readers were no mere dry as dust text books, but delightful excursions into the realm of romance and heroism. Out of these readers the schoolboy accumulated that wealth of poetic quotation which may make old age a bore to a generation that knows not McGuffey, but which in its time furnished a fund of entertainment for parlor recitation and mayhap sometimes found easy flow in the now outlawed barroom.

When out from nowhere came the lines,
The warrior bowed his crested head
And tamed his heart of fire

If you knew that there was a disciple of McGuffey, if you had patience you would learn that "rusty and raw" was the morning that witnessed the "Fight on the Paso del Mar." The shades of night would have long since passed ere Excelsior moved through the Alpine village.

Now a monument is to be erected to William Holmes McGuffey. It is a deserved tribute. He himself made no great contribution to literature. But he made the immortal in verse and prose live and breathe in his pages.

Chicago Changes Date For Opening of Fair

San Bernardino Sun
Chicago has planned all along to have the official opening of the Century Progress exposition on June 1. Leaders wanted to have President Roosevelt there on the opening day. He could not be present on June 1, so without any fuss or hullabaloo it was announced that the official opening would take place on May 27.

Many opening dates of world's fairs, Chicagoans point out, have been postponed because the shows were not ready on time. This, they believe, is the first time on record when an opening date has been moved up. When the great day comes, they add, it will be a real opening, with the buildings finished and the exhibits all on hand—not an array of unfinished structures still en route. That remains to be seen. Much is yet undone.

THE FATAL FOOD

It is now asserted that children who eat pie become listless.

A pie eating child, I am told,
Is possessed of an otiose mind;
He will not as a rule,
Be devoted to school
Or to any hard labor inclined.
He will not, except under duress,
Any difficult studies pursue,
And will earnestly shirk
Any form of hard work
His teachers have bade him to do.

This explains why the old pioneers,
Who lived in Colonial days,
And who dug up the rocks
To plant grass, so their flocks
Might have something upon which to graze—
Who fended off red skins at night
And chased rattlers and red skins away,
Leaping up from their sleep
At the morning's first peep,
Only worked nineteen hours a day.

These men became flabby and soft
Because pie was their favorite food;
Green apple and mince,
Peach, pumpkin and quince
Formed the diet they daily pursued.
The stuffing and baking of pie
Was an art with their pioneer wives—
They stowed it away
At least three times a day—
No wonder they wasted their lives!

Thoughts On Modern Life

By GLENN FRANK

THE SPIRIT OF RESEARCH

In these days of delirious budget-cutting we are mistaking many precious values for frills.

The most practical and profitable force in American life is scientific research, and yet research is in a process of strangulation in the publicly supported laboratories of our government and of our universities.

When laymen wield the budget ax they slash with savage vigor at such items as research, with the result that today local, state and national governments are condemning to the ranks of the unemployed men and women of national and international distinction in scientific research.

There is no good end to be served by whimpering. The situation throws a special challenge to all those concerned with research in the laboratories of our government and of our universities to redouble their efforts to keep publicly supported research real.

There are three temptations against which those concerned with research in our universities, about which I have the most first-hand information, must guard. These are:

(1) They must guard against the temptation to turn research into a ritual instead of jealously guarding its reality.

Research that is only a kind of daily dozen for the professor's mind, an academic labor union card, or a sort of character reference for a man seeking employment can hope for little public support in these days of retrenchment.

(2) They must guard against the temptation to make research slavishly dependent upon expensive and expensive equipment.

Pasteur did a pretty good job of researching in two attics under the roof of the Ecole Normale and without assistance of any kind, not even the assistance of an ordinary laboratory helper. The scientific workers of our universities may have to recapture the inventive versatility and pioneering courage of the Pasteurs if they are to carry on through these days of belt-tightening.

(3) They must guard against the temptation to keep pure and applied science severely apart.

We have too often assumed that great advances are not likely to be made if the researcher keeps a weather eye on the possibility of humanly usable results. The researchers in publicly supported laboratories must hitch their research to the problems that beset and baffle the bodies and minds and enterprises of men. And this will not make their research less vital but more. There is no such thing as the immaculate conception of ideas. The best ideas arise at the point where pure and applied science meet in fruitful union.

The degree to which the researchers guard against these temptations will have much to do with the fate of research in our publicly supported laboratories in these difficult days.

"BOSSY"

"You make me sick, Charles. You'd think to hear you that you are the only one that knows anything or that ever does anything right."

"Well, I am, as far as I can see. I suppose you call that mess in your notebook something done right? Why don't you take a clean sheet of paper, a sharp pencil, and do the thing right?"

"I suppose it is your business how my book looks?"
"I didn't begin this. You did. You were telling me something. I only pointed out to you that you weren't as good as you thought you were."

"I never said I thought I was good, did I? But you are always telling the world how perfect you are. You boss the ball team, you boss the literary club, you boss the class, then you come home and try to boss me. I'm not going to stand for it. I'd rather have a bad mark than be hated by everybody as you are, in school and out, Bossy Billy."

Bossy Billy is in every school in the land. Sometimes it is Betty instead of Billy but the results are the same. These young people are clever. They have an abundance of nervous energy and high ambitions. They want things done all over the floor on the part to a high standard and when they discover that that is not the usual way, they take hold and try to bring the others up to their ideals. Failing in that they become irritable, nervous and dictatorial defending themselves by thinking that they are doing what is right and trying to lead the others to do so. The results are unhappy. If the situation is not corrected the high strung leader is likely to come out of the scrimmage with a pain in his mental being that is likely to bother him in time to come.

Big ideals are necessary for the progress of the world. Leaders are essential in the progress of civilization. But there is another essential. There must be cooperation between the leaders and the led and the burden of achieving that falls on the leaders. They have to inspire the followers not only with the will to follow but with the power to do so. Force never does that. Understanding and faith and toleration, if not affection, must endear the leader to the follower or the leader goes his lonely way to illness and defeat.

Parents who have strong ambitions for their children, teachers who have high standard for their pupils, friends who have laid plans for dear ones, children who long to lead their groups, all of us must learn that there is one basis of human understanding and progress and that is mutual understanding and good will. Without that there can be no leadership and no following.

"I have done my very best to make my children understand the difference between right and wrong, but they seem bent on going as far in the opposite direction as they can go. What can I do to make them learn that I am right?"

They are not going toward the wrong, they are getting away from your dominating, harsh, imposing will. They want to be right as well as you and they will follow you gladly if you speak to them in the tones they understand, affection, understanding and faith. Try it. "Bossy Billy" never gets beyond himself. He is tethered by his own limitations.
